COOKIES POLICY

(Provision of the Guarantor of 8 May 2014 published in Official Gazette No. 126 on 3 June 2014 transposing Directive 2002/58 / EC)

This document is an integral part of the "website and cookie information" and is drawn up in this manner only and exclusively to allow the user a better understanding of the use and deactivation of cookies. It should be noted that the user can express their options on the use of cookies on the site www.aidro.it (see detailed list in the "types of cookies" below) also through the settings of the browser / s following the instructions provided here right away.

The user can also set "anonymous browsing" which allows the user to browse the internet without saving any information on the sites, pages visited, any passwords entered and other parameter information.

How to disable cookies

Warning: in relation to the deactivation by the user of all types of cookies (including technical ones) it should be noted that some features of the site may be reduced or unavailable.

To disable the types of cookies used by this website directly from the browser

Google Chrome

COOKIES

Cookies are small text strings that the sites visited by the user send to their terminal (usually the browser), where they are stored before being re-transmitted to the same sites at the next visit by the same user. In addition to cookies, other similar tools (web beacons / web bugs, clear GIFs or others) that allow the identification of the user or terminal are also subject to the provision of the Guarantor.

While browsing a site, the user can also receive cookies on his terminal that are sent from different sites or web servers (so-called "third parties"), on which some elements may reside (such as, for example, images, maps, sounds, specific links to pages of other domains) present on the site that the same is visiting.

Cookies, usually present in users' browsers in very large numbers and sometimes even with characteristics of wide temporal persistence, are used for different purposes: execution of computer authentication, session monitoring, storage of information on specific configurations concerning users who access the server, etc. Further information on cookies can be found on www.allaboutcookies.org.

In order to arrive at a correct regulation of these devices, it is necessary to distinguish them since there are no technical characteristics that differentiate them from each other precisely on the basis of the purposes pursued by those who use them. Moreover, the same legislator has moved in this direction, which, in implementation of the provisions contained in Directive 2009/136 / EC, has brought back the obligation to acquire the prior and informed consent of users to the installation of cookies used for purposes other than purely technical ones (see art. 1, paragraph 5, letter a), of Legislative Decree 28 May 2012, n. 69, which amended art. 122 of the Code) and GDPR.
